

ABSTRACT

A device comprising a resonator formed of a piezoelectric layer sandwiched between two metal electrodes, the resonator being laid on a suspended beam, the device comprising means for deforming said beam by the difference in thermal expansion coefficients.

859063.557 / 469901_1.DOC